

The Do not call list was the best idea and has alleviated so many annoying and unwanted telephone calls. As a consumer, if I want to be solicited and that is my choice.

Businesses should not dictate their influences of "they want". For example, I want to be paid several million dollars, however, I don't get what I want. I get what is offered. I have not offered my telephone number to be solicited and I want it to remain on the "Do not call list".
